LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE FOURTH AT HOME.-The celebration of the day in Washington began about fifteen minutes past 12 o'clock, on the morning of the 5th, by the ringing of bells, which was kept up till after daybreak, much to the regret of those who wished to enjoy a good nap before entering upon the pleasures of the day.

At a very early hour large companies of men, women and children were to be seen wending their way to the rendezvous of various parties formed for pleasure, at the springs, pavilions, groves, &c , of the adjoining counties of Mary-land and Virginia. It seemed as if the youth of the city intended to desert the dusty Metropolis to ruralize in the more pleasant localities of the surrounding country.

The day was ushered in by the usual national salutes fired at the Navy Yard, Arsenal, and the District Armory, by detachments of men under the orders of the Government. The city was remarkably quiet throughout the day. For a short while the stores upon the Avenue were opened to supply their customers with necessaries for the day, but soon closed, and business was suspended throughout the city. The restaurants and bar rooms were closed, the proprietors adding to the quiet and peace of the day by so doing. There were a few c-ses of intoxication seen upon the streets, and consequently-though the entire police force was on duty-they had occasion to make but few arrests.

The woods and groves adjacent to the city were occupied during the entire day by select companies and pic nie parties The pic nie of St. Matthew's Sunday School at A lington was one of the largest, if not the largest ever seen at that popular resort of our citi-

A friend who remained during the entire day assures us that between two and three thousand persons enjoyed the day beneath the venerable oaks at Arlington. It was a merry company The older portion passed the time in strolling through the woods, in listening to the merry songs and gice of the younger, and in participating in their joy, when, at a signal from Esputa's celebrated string band, the spacious pavilion was set in order, and the dance commenced. The juveniles, too, had a merry time, with the seesaws, springing-boards and swings which had been prepared for them The fact that not a disorderly act or accident occurred during the day, reflects great credit upon the managers and the proprietors, who, by enforcing strictly their order that no intoxicating liquor would be allowed on the grounds, presented no attraction for disorderly individuals

The Wesley Chapel, Fourth Presbyterian, and Assembly Church Sabbath Schools left the city. separately, at an early hour in omnibusses for Berry's woods, north of the city, where they passed a delightful day in ruralizing; and reterned to their homes about sundown, well satisfled apparently with the sniff of courry air with which they had been regaled; and with sunbrowned faces, laughing eyes, and merry voices, they made the welkin ring as they rode back to

The Sunday School attached to the Ebenezer Church, Navy Yard, also picnicked at Bladensburg Spa Spring, going thither and returning by railroad. From the accounts received from them on their return, they bad a most glorious time beneath the ambrageous shades at that famous old

At night music and fireworks wound up the rejetcings of Independence Day in Washington. The Marine Band gave a delightful promenade concert in the President's Gardens, and in the Monument Grounds a fine display of fireworks were discharged in the air for the benefit of all who felt disposed to enjoy them. Some of them were really beautiful, and were received with delight by thousands of children, both of the infantile and adult species. The strong south wind which prevailed during the evening marred wise time effect of the display, by blow. ing the smoke to the front. In all other respects, and with two or three exceptions, the fireworks went off in a decidedly satisfactory manner. The pieces were nearly all designed by Mr. Brown, of the Arsenal, under the direction of Major Ramsey. At 10% o'clock the show was over, and in half an hour afterward all Washington went to bed to dream of pic nics, fireworks, music, et al. A novel feature of the festivities of Independence Day here was the total absence of the drunken crowds who are usually to be seen in our streets on such occasions. The good sense of the keepers of restaurants in closing their bars during the day was thus strikingly appa-

CRIMINAL COURT .- Trial of the Brothers Devlin for Murder -- When our report closed on Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m., the jury who had just before retired in this case had not returned with a verdict. Shortly afterward the Court adjourned. At 6 o'clock, on the same evening, the Court met to receive a verdict, but the jury had

At 1 o'clock p. m., yesterday, the Court met again, when the jury came in with a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the case of James P. Devlin, and of acquittal as to John S Devlin. John was acquitted solely on grounds of insanity. The Court holds under consideration the matter of sending him to the Asylum for the Insane across the river.

The above case was conducted with fairness, zeal, and great ability on both sides; and Messrs. Ould and Cross, as prosecuting attorneys, exhibited in a high degree those qualities in the discharge of their several functions.

To-day, the Court met at the usual hour. James Gochrane was tried for stealing from F. Wheatley, on the 24th of June, 1858, pine boards valued at 82 cents. The jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of guilty as indicted. Charles Carrol was tried for stealing from F. Frazier, on the 9th of June, 1848, a shawl valued at $3, and one ham valued at $1.25. The jury returned a verdict of guilty of stealing one ham

Robert Jones was tried for stealing a Corporation of Georgetown $5 note and two $2.50 gold pieces from John Meney Verdict-guilty as

BELLIGERENT PRISONERS .- Saturday, Officer Yeatman was called upon to arrest an old man named H. Corbitt, for being drunk and disc:derly. The arrest was made, and the old fellow requested Yeatman to take his hands off and let him waik along like a man. It was done. Then he asked what would be done with him, and was told he would go to the workhouse if he didn't pay the fine. "But," said the prisoner, " suppose I do something to take me to jail?"
Then you'll have to go to jail," said the officer. The old fellow watched for a chance, and when the officer took his eyes from him, Corbitt dealt him a blow that brought the blood from the officer's face and soon changed the appearnice of his shirt bosom. Corbitt wanted to 20 la jail, but Justice Donn sent him to the farm for ninety days.

The same officer returned from the farm, and had to arrest Daniel Shea for malicious mischief. Shea resisted, and in the contest tore the officer's uniform, but he was secured and taken before Justice Donn, who ordered him to pay-for his drunken sport, $8.08; for damage to the officer's coat, $2 50; for resisting the officer, committed

THE SHOOTING CASE .- Yesterday, a disturbance arose at a small grocery or liquor shop in the First Ward, kept by a Mrs. Murray, which resulted in the shooting of a young man named John O'Day. O'Day was wounded in the breast with three balls, and Dr. Lansdale was sent for, but not having the proper instruments at hand Dr. Newman was called. The wounds were examined, and it was decided that O'Day would probably recover. We heard this morning that the balls had not been extracted, but that the wounded man was doing very well.

Two young men, Geo. Kelly and - McGlue, were arrested as parties concerned. Kelly was held for court, and it appearing from the evidence that McGlue was not present he was dismissed. The supposed principal is at large; his name is Richard Hill. O'Day believed that McGlue shot him; but it is said that he was probably mistaken by the fact of a resemblance between Hill and McGlue. A further examination may fix the charge definitely on the proper individual.

BADLY BEATEN .- Yesterday afternoon a man was chased by two others, from a house on K street, between Third and Four-and-a-half, on the Island, when another named John Hayes interfered to prevent their fighting. Upon this, the assailing party transferred their animosity to Hayes, and attacked him by striking him on the heed with a large stone. Two other men and several women also ran from the house on K street, and participated in the affray, which ended in Hayes being so badly beaten about the head as to require medical assistance, and really to endanger his life. Dr. Willett paid him the necessary attention, after which he was removed to his home on Capitol Hill. His first assailants are said to be named Collins and Donnovan, and one of those who subsequently joined the affray, we are told, is named Carroll. Officers Lloyd and Ash came to the scene of combat shortly after its occurrence, but they failed to arrest the assailants, as they were hid away by their friends. THE LATE REEVE LEWIS, who died in conse quence of a pistol-shot wound, received while walking with Mr. Entwisle, on Capitol Hill, as we recently recorded, left a family of young and helpless children. They are now fatherless and motherless. We are happy to learn that exertions have been set on foot whereby this bereaved family may be taken care of. A subscription has been handsomely commenced, and can be extended by application to James Adams, Esq., of the Bank of Washington.

THE SURVIVORS OF THE WAR OF 1812 -The Association of survivors in this city held a meeting at the Aldermen's Room, City Hall, yesterday, and after transacting some preliminary bus-iness, proceeded in a body to the Presidential Mansion, and paid their respects to the Chief Magistrate of the nation.

THE EXCURSION TO CHESAPEARE BAY .- At a ew minutes after seven o'clock, on Saturday evening, the steamer Powhatan, Capt William Mitchell, was loosed from her moorings at the foot of Sixth street, and with some two hundred excursionists, including forty ladies, on board, steamed down the Potomac river, en route for Norfolk, Old Point Comfort and Cape Henry. Marsoletti's Band accompanied the departure with music that bade a merry good-bye to those that remained on the wharf.

The boat having stopped awhile at Alexandria, a considerable delegation came aboard from that venerable city, and in passing along its river front, the band gave the groups ashore a foretaste of the Fourth by playing "Hail Columbia" and the "Star Spangled Banner." The company on board was a most agreeable one, and amusements soon adjusted themselves to the taste of the parties. In the dining-room, dancing winged the feet of a few votaries of Terpsichore; small knots on the forward and after decks watched night as it deepened and hid the shore from view; gatherings social and small filled the staterooms and made them merry. So passed the evening. By midnight the boat was mietly cleaving the Potomac with a cargo of Morning dawned as the steamer neared Piney

Point, and she reached there, with the excursion. sts all awake, soon after sunrise. After a short stay, which gave the crowd time enough to examine what the flames have left of that once popular resort, the boat sought the stream again, and moved on to her destination. The Band saluted the Day of Independence with Hail Columbia, Yankee Doodle, and the Star-spangled Bannsr; and at intervals during the morning cheered the company with appropriate airs.

Off the mouth of the Potomac, the Powhatan passed the steamer Columbia, Baltimore, for Washington, and off the mouth of the Rappahannock the steamer, Belvidere, Richmond, for Baltimore An outbound propeller was soon after overhauled, then a barque, and with all these vessels, as well as the light boats, she exchanged

Later in the day the excursion party passed an nited States revenue cutter that sainted it as it passed with cheers and fired a gun, the band and pells of the excursionists replying The bay was very smooth, a slight swell and a ttle ripple alone fretting its surface. The character of the day suspended dancing, and the party on board sought quieter amusements to while away the passage down the Chesapeake. About one o'clock the frowning battlements of Portiess Monroe came in sight, and were gladly hailed by music from the band. In half an hour the boat had passed the Rip Raps, and was at the wharf at Old Point Comfort. Remaining long enough to land some of the excursionists, the boat resumed her course, and soon after entering the Elizabeth river, met and exchanged salutes with the steamer Curtis Peck and the large party on board, that were bound outside of the Capes, to meet the remains of President Monroe. On the way up the steamer John E. Coffee overhauled the Powhatan, and exchanging sautes, passed ahead. At a few minutes past three o'clock the band sainted the city of Norfolk, and the boat was moored to one of the piers. After landing a party at Norfolk the boat visited the city of Portsmouth. Whilst laying at the Portsmout wharf a negro man was pushed off the pier and drowned. A white man, named Edward Face, belonging to Norfolk, was arrested, and committed to jail, charged with causing his Leaving Portsmouth, the Powhatan steamed out toward the Atlantic ocean, and, passing around the Cape Henry light boat, returned to Old Point Comfort, where an hour was allowed for amusements on shore. The steamer then resumed her trip and started back to Norfolk. On the route a heavy storm of wind and rain arose, and, shutting out the sight of land, for awhile interfered with the speed of the steamer. It soon passed, however, and the steamer was safely moored in the harbor of Norfolk. A number of the excursionists spent the night ashore, enjoying whatever attractions Norfolk offers after nightfall; the greater portion, however, passed the night on board the steamer.

The rain had cooled the air, and the morning of the 5th "rose like a Cybelle, fresh from the ocean." The excursionists rose with it, not quite so fresh, but rather thirsty. The greater portion of the morning of the 5th was spent by the party in an examination of Norfolk and its vicinity The City Hall and Custom House, the field where lie buried the dead of the pestilence, the big ship Pennsylvania, and other United States ships were looked at, the Gosport Navy Yard examined, and time taken to see the starting of the various excursions of the steamers Georgia, Sea Bird and John E. Coffee, to Old Point and Cape Henry.

The military of the two cities were under arms. In Portmouth, at 51/2 o'clock, the line formed in the following order: Portsmouth Brass Band, Old Dominion Guards, Captain Kearn; Portsmouth Artillery, Captain Cassel; Union Guards, Captain Gordon; Newtown Riflemen; and at 6 c'clock they were on parade for the morning. The various Norfolk companies also paraded, but they had not fallen into line when the Powhatan left.

Just before noon, the excursionists re-embarked. and, bidding farewell to Norfolk, steamed down the Elizabeth river homeward bound, and after a pleasant run, the party landed at Old Point Comfort, where for an hour the boat waited that they might enjoy the opportunities for bathing, bil-Laids, tenpins, pistol shooting, and the many other pastimes offered by the auxiliaries of that celebrated watering place. About half-past 2 o'clock, the boat left her moorings at the Point and was soon in Chesapeake Bay. The wind blew a stiff breeze, and the water was quite rough—white caps lifting and dowsing their foamy heads as far as the eye could reach. A number of vessels appeared at various distances within the horizon, and the excursionists passed, in full view, a stip from the ocean bound up, with all her sails set, dashing the spray before as though, indeed, she were a thing of life. The rolling of the boat produced its usual effect, and during the day, quite a number of persons were indisposed. Night fell as the steamer entered the mouth of the Potomac, and as soon as she had steamed beyond the heavy sea, dancing was recommenced with vigor and kept up nearly all night. The Powhatan landed a party at Piney Point and then proceeded on up the river. At 2 o'clock this my ning, the feet of the dancers were still, the music hushed, and nothing might be heard but the labors of the engine and the plash of the waves as the boat dashed through them. At morning the excursionists were off Sandy Point, and thence all hearts were eager for home.

To pass the time pleasantly, various means were resorted to. One party gave excellent imitations of Indian singing, as it might have been heard at Maher's any night for months past; another furnished operatic specimens, which were quite amusing. In fact, all added from their stock whatever might serve to pass away the time, and it passed quite pleasantly

Alexandria was reached about 8% o'clock, and ts delegation went ashore. Soon afterwards the boat was safely moored in Washington, the party en route for their homes, and the excursion over Excellent order prevailed throughout. At the very first indication of disorder, Capt. Mitchell was prompt in its suppression, and thereafter everything went smoothly; and while much license was allowed for harmless merriment, an excellent discipline guarded against the danger of excess. To the managers of the excursion, the party on board owe much for their efforts to make everything pleasant.

THE NUISANCE LAW .- The necessity for cleanliness of the streets, alleys, and gutters must be apparent to all our citizens. The health of our city depends upon it, in a great measure; and the comfort of families would be greatly improved by a strict compliance with the law in relation to that subject. Quite a large number of notices under the nuisa ce law have been served since the warm weather commenced, and the police officers are daily employed in that service. A very little trouble on the part of housekeepers is required to comply with the law. Compliance will prevent the necessity for the service of no tices, will do much to preserve the health, and will save many from expense inseparable from the enforcement of the law by the city authori-

PUBLIC Scoools .- The Board of Trustees met on last Saturday afternoon, at the usual place and hour. The regular meeting was anticipated by reason of the examination of Miss Merrick's. which is to be held on Wednesday. The distri-bution of premiums was determined for the four successive days, beginning with the 20 h of July, commencing with the Fourth District School, and so on to the First District, distributing to the schools of one district each day. The proportion in which premiums should be awarded to the several schools was discussed, and it was determined that it should be by classes. The treasurer (Mr. Harbaugh) presented an estimate of the amount required for the support of the schools for the coming year.

INCENDIARY ATTEMPT .- About 3 o'clock yesterday, the family of Mr. Jas. G. Ellis, residing on Sixth near G Street, were alarmed by a vast cloud of smoke issuing from a chamber in the third story of their dwelling. They discovered that some one had set fire to a bed, which, with the bedstead, was nearly destroyed and the furniture of the room damaged. By the timely assictance of the neighbors, the fire was extinguished and a serious conflagration prevented It is supposed that a little colored girl, a servant in the house, set fire to the bed in order to have an excuse to run away. She had her clothes packed up and ready for removal.

UNRULY .- The row of houses on K, between Third and Four-and-a-half streets, on the Island, is getting to be, or has already become, a rather bad place. Fights are of frequent occurrence there, and disturbances more than common affairs. Last night, one man was badly beaten by some of the residents in that locality, and soon after two other quarrels occurred, which were only prevented from resulting in physical demonstrations of an injurious character, by the intoxication of the belligerently disposed and the interference of other parties.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE JURY IN THE DAVLIN CASE .- The prayers of the counsel in this case for instructions to the jury were published in Friday's Star, and on Saturday we stated that Judge Crawford had granted portions of these prayers, with certain modifications. As these charges alter somewhat the tenor of the instructions desired to be delivered, we give below a brief synopsis of the points on which the jury was instructed by the court, which shows what portions of the prayers were granted. They are as follows:

That if the jury believed both or either of the defendants perpetrated the homicide on Berry out of ill-feeling, existing prior to the occasion, it would be murder; and even if it should appear that Berry was a married man when he contracted a union with the defendants' sister, that is no egal justification of their assault; that if the defendants prepared themselves with a deadly weapon to be ready in an anticipated combat with Berry, it would be murder; if the defendants prepared themselves for an anticipated conflict and killed the deceased after receiving slight provocation from him, it would be murder; if the deceased was killed by one of the defendants in a sudden quarrel, the other aiding and abetting, it would be manslaughter, unless committed in self-defence; that whichever of the two defendants gave the stabs, the other, if he abetted, is responsible, if sane; that to relieve John Devlin from the responsibility on the ground of insanity, the jury must be convinced that he was not able at the time to distinguish between the right and wrong as to the act he was committing; if the jury believe Berry was murdered by one of the defendants, without being able to decide which, they must acquit both, unless they believe them to have acted by preconcert to kill or do the deceased some great bodily harm: If it should ap-pear to the jury that James Devlin committed the homicide in self-defence, under reasonable round, they must acquit him; if, after repeated prohibitions, Berry persisted in visiting Mrs. Devlin's house, using threats, and was ordered off by her and her two sons, but refused to go, then those sons had a lawful right to expel him and use all needful force, and even to kill him, if equisite to their own protection; and, lastly, if the jury flud that John S. Devlin killed Berry under the influence of dementia and monomania, and was unconscious of committing a crime, he must be acquitted, as also must James Devlin, unless the jury believe he influenced or assisted John in the killing, or knew he was about to subject of insanity: "A defendant is not to be excused from reponsibility if he has capacity sufficient to enable him to distinguish between right and wrong as to the act he is doing-a consciousness that the act he is doing is wrong and criminal, and will subject him to punishment. In order to be reponsible, he must have sufficient power of memory to recollect the relation in which he stands to others and in which they stand to him; that the act he is doing is contrary to the dictates of right, injurious to others, and a violation of the dictates of duty. Although he may be laboring under a partial insanity, if he understands the character of his act, and its consequences; if he has a knowledge that it is criminal, and a mental power sufficient to apply that knowledge to his own case, and to know that if he does the act he will do wrong and receive punishment, such partial insanity is not sufficient to exempt him from responsibility for criminal acts.

REPREHENSIBLE OUTRAGES .- We are informed hat "Harmony Burial Ground," the cemetery of a portion of our colored population, which lies just north of the city boundary, and beyond the terminus of Seventh street, has been the scene of conduct for which the offenders should be severely punished. About four weeks ago some parties fore down and carried away a portion of the fence, thus allowing the cattle free ingress to the cemetery. The proprietors of the cemetery on becoming aware of the outrage against their property replaced the fence, but in a few days afterwards about the same quantity was again torn down and removed. They again replaced it, but the tearing down has since been repeated two or three times, and it seems as though the depredators are not only determined to throw the cemetery open, but also to destroy the fencing as often as it may be replaced. A few days since, a young man-son of one of the proprietors -was repairing thither to rebuild the fence, when he bserved a man with a hatchet, apparently in the act of removing another portion of the palings. As this property has been bought and paid for by the owners, and Congress has passed a special act, securing their title thereto, some measures should be adopted at once to protect their property, and punish the despoilers of the list resting-place of their dead.

THE RITTENHOUSE ACADEMY .- On Wednesday afternoon last, the pupils of this well-known seat of learning, entertained a large and interested audience with well selected and generally well delivered specimens of their oratorical powers. Several of the young men read original compositions, which evinced well-matured thought, and correct training. The audience manifested plainly their high appreciation of the exercises. We would not make any invidious distinction; but may say that those young men who received premiums from their kind principal, as tokens of good scholarship and conduct, were, most of them, particularly successful in their declamations and compositions. Through the indefatigable and well-directed labors of Mr. O. C. Wight, the principal, this Academy has received and deserves the patronage of a discerning community.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT. - This morning, Nelson Steele, a son of H. N. Steele, Esq., formerly of Alexandria, while engaged in cleansing a machine at Schneider's brass foundry, on the Avenue, near Eleventh street, had the fore-finger of his right hand crushed between two cog-wheels which were in motion. Surgi al aid was soon obtained, and the wounded lad made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

COMMENCEMENT OF GONZAGA COLLEGE .- The annual commencement of this justly popular institution of learning took place this morning at Odd Fellows' Hall on Seventh street. We defer a notice of the exercises till a future day.

REAL ESTATE -On Saturday, J. C. McGuire, Auctioneer, sold a small frame house and lot on P street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth sts. to Patrick Ragan, for $795.

JAILED .- A fellow named O'Brien was arrested Sunday by officer Chipley for a vite act, and was sent to jail for Court.

WATCH RETURNS .- Rachel Burk, Mary Bonnelly, Mary Hall, colored; and Edward Lancas. ter, drunk and disorderly; workhouse 90 days each; Caleb Gibson, John Lee, Henry Johnson, colored, and Jerry Lee, do; fine and costs $3.15 Elizabeth Bell, Wa.
